

SanjeevaniPath

(FRONTEND DESIGN)

This project is a responsive telehealth web platform designed for seamless interaction between patients and doctors. Drawing aesthetic and functional inspiration from leading platforms like Pearl and Apollo, it features a clean and trustworthy medical UI using your custom color palette. The platform enables users to explore services, register or log in (with distinct flows for patients and doctors), contact support, and view testimonials for credibility. The homepage serves as the central hub, highlighting services and navigation options for both user types.
